VOL XLVIII NO.1

SPRING ISSUE

APRIL 2019

SPRING CONFERENCE at THE UNIVERSITY OF SOUTHERN MAINE in Portland, Maine
on SATURDAY, April 13, 2019

The 102nd meeting of the Association will be held on April 13, 2019, at the University of Southern Maine; 88 Bedford St.; Portland, ME 04103 (800-800-4876). The University of Southern Maine (USM) is a vital part of the state's public university system, and it has campuses in Portland, Gorham and Lewiston. It is 49 years old, and its parent institutions are the Gorham Normal School (founded in 1878 for teachers) and Portland University (founded in 1921 for accountants). In 1970 the two schools merged to become the University of Southern Maine at Portland-Gorham (UMPG), and in 1978 UMPG was renamed USM.

The program for the spring conference is listed on pages 3-6 of this issue, and it is also posted on our webpage: <http://www.newenglandhistorians.org>

Vice-President Elizabeth (Libby) Bischof (University of Southern Maine) arranged this fine program. Martin Menke (NEHA's Executive Secretary) made the local arrangements with the assistance of faculty and staff at the University of Southern Maine.

We hope that this meeting in Portland, ME, will be as well attended and successful as our meeting at the University of Connecticut last fall. We are very grateful for the hospitality shown to us by the University of Southern Maine.

Prior to the conference, a reception for conferees will probably be held on Friday, April 12, from 4:00 to 5:30 at the USM's Osher Map Library (314 Forest Ave.). Please consult NEHA's website for confirmation.

The April conference will begin with registration and a complimentary continental breakfast at 8:00 a.m. on Saturday morning in the Abromson Community Center (ACC). Panels will begin at 8:30 a.m. in ACC. NEHA members are invited to bring copies of their own recent publications as well as timely professional literature for display or distribution at the book exhibit at 10:00 in the registration room.

The registration fee payment is required for everyone on the program (panelists, chairs and commentators) and all who attend the conference. Pre-registration by mail or online prior to April 1 is strongly recommended, but registration at the conference is possible. Please feel free to photocopy the conference registration form on the back page when inviting colleagues or graduate students.

TRAVEL INFORMATION

Our luncheon will be held at 12:15 in the Abromson Community Center, but seating is limited. Please reserve your place at lunch when you pre-register. Even if you do not join us, please pay your 2019 membership dues online or by mail if you have not already done so. Lunch will be followed by afternoon panels, which will start at 1:45 and end at 3:15.

the President's message

A MESSAGE FROM NEHA'S PRESIDENT

Dear Colleagues,

It has been almost a decade since the New England Historical Association last held a conference in Maine, so it is a special pleasure for me to welcome you to my home state this April as we hold our spring conference at the University of Southern Maine in Portland. We are especially fortunate this spring to be hosted by our current Vice President, Libby Bischof.

These are troubling times to be engaged in the work of studying history. The world around us stands at the brink of crisis, and a thoughtful, nuanced understanding of historical context seems to be lacking from public discourse just when it would be most valuable. At the same time, financial pressures have led to the closing of many small liberal arts colleges and have made an already difficult job market for academic historians all the more acute. Those of us who work with students know that the demands on their time and attention have not lessened. In times of such stress and uncertainty (not to mention the other kinds of stress and uncertainty that the late winter months always bring to New England), I find it a comfort to know that NEHA carries on as it has done for more than fifty years as a welcoming venue for historians of all fields, periods, and areas to come together and share our work, our ideas, and our love of the discipline of history.

I look forward to seeing you all in Portland in April.

Erik Jensen
NEHA President (2018-19)
Salem State University

IN MEMORIUM

Patricia A. Herlihy, one of NEHA's most valued members, passed away in Cambridge, Mass., on October 24, 2018. Herlihy served as NEHA's president in 1995-96, and she enjoyed an illustrious academic career, teaching first at Brown University and then at Emmanuel College. Herlihy was an expert on Russian history, and she wrote a number of books on that subject, including The Alcoholic Empire (about the role of alcohol in tsarist Russia). She had six children and six grandchildren.

Many people have fond memories of Prof. Herlihy. One of those people is Peter Holloran, a longtime NEHA officer who gladly shares his memories of Herlihy with NEHA News readers:

Patricia Herlihy, God bless her, was one of the greatest NEHA presidents I have known. You could see her coming to NEHA meetings surrounded by a covey of graduate students she encouraged and mothered in the best ways. One story I love: Pat hosted the conference in 1993 at Brown University and the John Carter Brown Library, and it was a great meeting with the largest attendance I can recall. As executive secretary, I wrote the checks to pay for lunch. This time it was a rather high amount compared to our other conferences, but I was astonished to find the bill had been paid! Pat quietly arranged this with the university and the library. One of her many discreet and charming gifts she contributed to NEHA. Others can attest to her outstanding Russian scholarship, teaching and administrative skills, but I still remember her grace, kindness, concern for fledgling historians and friendship to everyone in her beloved NEHA. Rest in peace, Pat.

THE NEHA STUDENT PAPER PRIZE

NEHA encourages the participation of students (undergraduate students as well as graduate students) in our conferences. Each year the Student Prize Committee may award two prizes, one prize to a graduate student paper and another prize to an undergraduate student paper. All students are invited to submit their papers as delivered at a NEHA conference to be considered for a prize.

Students may submit NEHA conference papers from spring 2019 or fall 2019. Prizes will be awarded at the spring 2020 conference. Please submit papers to Dominic DeBrincat, Chair of the Student Prize Committee (ddebrincat@missouriwestern.edu). The prize committee also includes Martin Menke (Rivier University), Tona Hangen (Worcester State University), and Paul Lambert (Nichols College).

NEHA BOOK AWARD

NEHA welcomes nominations for the James P. Hanlan Book Award. This prestigious award has been presented annually since 1985 to an author who has produced an outstanding work of history.

Any publisher may nominate one book each year by writing to Martin Menke, Rivier University; 420 South Main Street; Nashua, NH 03060, or email him at mmenke@rivier.edu by June 1, 2019. Monographs on any historical topic, time or place published in 2018, written by an author who lives or works in New England (or has done so in the past two years), are eligible for the annual NEHA Book Award. The nominated book should represent the best historical writing and scholarship in any era or field of history. The award certificate and $300.00 stipend are presented to the winner at the Fall Conference.

The current chair of the NEHA Book Award Committee is Peter Holloran (Worcester State University). Other members of the committee include Kristen Petersen (MCPHS University), Bruce Cohen (Worcester State University), Ian Delahanty (Springfield College), and Marie MacDonald (Southern Connecticut State University).

Fall 2018 Conference Report

The 101st meeting of the Association was held at U-Conn, Storrs, on October 27, 2018. It was a very productive meeting, and 92 conferees attended it. Conferees went to panels in McHugh Hall and heard presentations on subjects ranging from Blackbeard the pirate to modern-day blogging in the classroom.

Conferees ate lunch in the Student Union, and Sean Perrone (Saint Anselm College) reports on what occurred at the meal:

Chris Clark, chair of the UConn History Department and local host, spoke briefly. He acknowledged and thanked the various people at UConn who made the conference possible, including the History Department's administrative coordinator, Jessica Muirhead, and his colleague Prof. Peter Baldwin, who together made and oversaw local arrangements for the conference. He also thanked student volunteers Kylie Miller (UConn) and Cassandra Epes (Eastern CT State University) for their help.

Erik Jensen, NEHA president, noted the appropriateness of meeting where the first gathering of the association had taken place, and he then presented the James P. Hanlan Book Award to Richard Brown for Self-Evident Truths: Contesting Equal Rights from the Revolution to the Civil War (Yale University Press, 2017).

President Jensen asked Kristen Petersen, a member of the NEHA Executive Committee, to say a few words in remembrance of Patricia Herlihy (d. October 24, 2018) who was president of NEHA from 1995-1996. Petersen described Herlihy as "generous, welcoming, warm and funny." There was then a moment of silence.

NEWS OF THE PROFESSION

Faiz Ahmed (Brown University) recently won the John F. Richards Prize in South Asian History from the American Historical Association.

Bethany Jay (Salem State University) recently won the James Harvey Robinson Prize from the AHA for her book, Understanding and Teaching American Slavery (University of Wisconsin Press, 2016).

Kenda Mutongi (Williams College) recently won the Martin A. Klein Prize in African History from the American Historical Association.

CONFERENCES OF REGIONAL INTEREST

The Society for Historians of the Early American Republic will hold its annual meeting in Cambridge, MA, on July 18-21, 2019.

The New England American Studies Association (NEASA) has yet to post the date of its next annual meeting.

The next meeting of the Italian American Studies Association (IASA) will be in Houston, Texas, from October 31 to November 2, 2019.

The New England annual regional meeting of the American Conference for Irish Studies will be held in Boston on June 20-23, 2019.

The Berkshire Conference on the History of Women (aka the “Big Berks” conference) will be held in 2020 in Baltimore, MD (exact date TBA).

AUTHORS WANTED

The Historical Journal of Massachusetts (HJM) seeks articles about any aspect of Massachusetts history, culture, politics, and life. HJM is a peer-reviewed journal published twice a year since 1972. We are especially interested in articles on the history of recent immigrant communities. Subscriptions are $12.00 per year, and the acceptance rate is 35%. For submission guidelines see www.wsc.mass.edu/mhj/ or email masshistoryjournal@westfield.ma.edu

The International Journal of Humanities and Social Science (IJHSS), an open access, peer-reviewed and refereed journal, seeks interdisciplinary articles in humanities and the social sciences. If you have questions about the journal, please contact its editor, J. Sabrina Mims-Cox (editor@ijhssnet.com).

The International Journal of Liberal Arts and Social Science (IJLASS), a newly established, open access, peer-reviewed journal, seeks all manner of contributions, including articles about history. Send your manuscripts to the editor at editor@ijlass.org, or editor.ijlass@hotmail.com.

The Northeast Popular Culture/American Culture Association (NEPCA) offers its annual Peter C. Rollins Book Award for the best book on any American culture or popular culture topic published in 2018 by an author in New England or New York. Publishers may nominate one book by June 1, 2019. The award certificate and $200 prize will be presented to the winner in October 2019 at the annual NEPCA conference. Contact the NEPCA Executive Secretary, Robert E. Weir, NEPCA, 15 Woods Road, Florence, MA 01062; robweir7@gmail.com

If you would like to write a book review for the NEHA News, please feel free to contact the Association's book review editor, Thomas J. Carty, Springfield College, Department of History, Springfield, MA 01109; tcarty@springfield.edu. We have books available for review or you may suggest a good new book you have in hand. Our reviews are 600 words and are due in 60 days.

The New England Quarterly editors invite submissions for their consideration. This historical review of New England life and letters has been published since 1928. The journal's mission remains the same as that set forth by its founders: NEQ is an open forum dedicated to the exploration and discussion of New England civilization and its effects on the nation and the world. The journal is open to any historical method, and there is no restriction on the time period covered. Features also include brief memoranda, recently discovered documents, reconsiderations of historical controversies, periodic essay reviews, and approximately fifteen book reviews per issue. Manuscripts should be sent to the editor, Jonathan Chu, at: jonathan.chu@umb.edu

All Things New England, an online publication focusing on life in New England, is looking for interesting stories from knowledgeable people pertaining to New England landmarks and historical places. Average articles range from 800-1200 words and are featured on the publication's homepage. For more information contact Jessica Layne (allthingsnewengland@gmail.com) or consult the publication's website: www.allthingsnewengland.com

GRANTS AND FELLOWSHIPS

The Massachusetts Historical Society is offering short-term and long-term research fellowships for the academic year 2019-20. The Society is a participant in the New England Regional Fellowship Consortium. For more information please visit the website, www.masshist.org/fellowships, or contact fellowships@masshist.org, 617-646-0577.

The American Philosophical Society Library in Philadelphia offers competitive short-term fellowships supporting in-residence research in its renowned scholarly collections. Applicants who hold the Ph.D. or are advanced Ph.D. candidates or independent scholars may apply for the fellowships which have a monthly $2,000 stipend for 1-3 months. For applications see: www.amphilsoc.org/grants/resident.htm

The American Antiquarian Society in Worcester offers three broad categories of visiting research fellowships: long-term fellowships, short-term fellowships, and fellowships for creative and performing artists and writers. For more information about the fellowships, please consult the Society's website.

The American Academy in Rome gives an annual prize, the Rome Prize, to 15 scholars (working in ancient, medieval, Renaissance and early modern, or modern Italian studies), as well as to 15 emerging artists (working in architecture, landscape architecture, design, historic preservation and conservation, literature, musical composition, or visual arts). Recipients of the prize get to study at the academy. The application deadline for next year's prize is November 1.

Francis A. Countway Library of Medicine, an alliance of the Boston Medical Library and the Harvard Medical Library, offers two annual fellowships to support research in the history of medicine. This is the largest academic medical library in the nation with an extensive collection of European medical texts from the 15th to 20th centuries and many other archives. For application information contact Countway Fellowships, Center for the History of Medicine, Francis A. Countway Library, 10 Shattuck Street, Boston, MA 02115.

Historic Deerfield in Deerfield, MA, invites college juniors and seniors to apply for its nine-week, fully-funded Summer Fellowship Program in History and Material Culture. The due date for applications is February 2020.

NEHA FUND CONTRIBUTIONS

The Association Fund was created many years ago to support some of the Association's activities not related directly to the annual conference, newsletter, mailings or other routine expenses. It has supported the annual NEHA book award and the NEHA Prize, along with subsidizing graduate students presenting a paper, and defraying costs associated with our joint sessions at the AHA. This modest fund is supported by the generosity of our members. Please consider making a donation. Mail your check (payable to NEHA) to our Executive Secretary, Martin Menke (mmenke@rivier.edu), or add a contribution when you pay your annual dues or conference registration payment. Thank you for your generous support. Donations are tax deductible to the extent permitted by law.

BOOK REVIEWS

Edouard Louis, The End of Eddy: A Novel. New York: Farrar, Straus and Giroux, 2017.

The End of Eddy bears the subtitle “a novel,” but considering its length, novella seems the more appropriate term. In light of its fidelity to the events of Edouard Louis’ life, memoir or autobiography would be an apt subtitle. This concise work does focus on Eddy’s inner life while delineating his social world, thus encompassing the dual focus typical of the novel.

The author/hero was born in 1992, so this is the story of a young life, which transpires in the village of Hallencourt, in northwest France near Amiens. Most of the men, including Eddy’s father, work in the local factory, and behave according to “tough guy” norms, which Eddy cannot meet. He is subject to cruel words, especially faggot, which became a “stigmata, those marks that the Greeks would carve with a red-hot iron or a knife into the bodies of deviant individuals, people who posed a threat to their community.” (p. 5)

The most intense period of insult is the first two years of middle school when two boys regularly abuse and beat Eddy. He meets his tormentors near the school library as if keeping an appointment, for despite fear of what they will do to him, he wants to keep the degradation private. When the two boys finish middle school, Eddy can focus more on his schoolwork including his after school theatre group, where he excels. (Once his tormentors attend one of Eddy’s performances; their behavior may surprise the reader.) Then his daily struggles are just bearable but under no circumstances can he face the two bullies in high school, and considers dropping out, although he likes schoolwork.

Eddy makes his life, unlike that of his family and friends, novel worthy by creating an arc of development for himself. With hardly any mentoring, he follows the suggestion of his middle school principal to apply for a theater scholarship to Lycée Madeleine Michelis, in Amiens. Through intense practice with his principal’s daughter and in desperate fear of alternative schooling, Eddy is admitted to the Lycée on scholarship and is thus able to pursue the Baccalaureate and then higher education. He creates a novel built on the pre-novelistic forms, tales or stories, told by women – men do not do this – especially his mother and grandmother.

Eddy’s adolescence is ultimately characterized by real learning, joy and discovery, by false and true starts, and by adult nurturance—not to mention what he had glimpses of in the lives of middle class youth. His is not the typical preordained tale of Hallencourt, but a complex narrative of development that has been dubbed a novel, even though true. The journey begins not from his desire to leave but from his inability to fit in, and the assurance of development only truly comes at the end of his story, and largely by implication.

Eventually, Eddy marks the divide in his life by altering his name from Eddy Bellefeuille to Edouard Louis. He dedicates the work to Didier Eribon, whose Returning to Reims tells a story similar to Louis’ that transpired thirty years previously. Both men might say they have experienced intellectual and career success in the context of social and political debacle, and equally feel an urgent need to examine the xenophobia, homophobia, Islamophobia and right-wing populism that has emerged in the Western working class as their traditional parties fail to fight for or even pretend to articulate their interests. Eribon and Louis both see vile bigotry and votes for Marine Le Pen as the destructive, ultimately nihilistic choice of people who feel politically abandoned and unrecognized.

The End of Eddy is an important story for our day, when right-wing authoritarianism buttresses itself with masculinist and anti-gay ideology, for example in Russia. It is a moving and engrossing work.
