Slate for Election of NEHA Officers for 2022-2023

Our 2022 election will be conducted using online voting through ElectionBuddy.

Members, watch your email inbox for details. Candidate statements are provided for your consideration.

President

Charlotte Gradie is currently vice president of the New England Historical Association. She has taught Latin American history for thirty-two years at Sacred Heart University, where she is Professor of Latin American history. She has published journal articles, encyclopedia entries and reviews in the area of colonial Latin America and the Spanish in North America, and is a former Mellon fellow and the author of The Tepehuan Revolt of 1616: Militarism, Evangelism and Colonialism in Seventeenth-Century Nueva Vizcaya (University of Utah Press, 2005).

Vice President

Paul E. Lambert, Sr., teaches history at Nichols College in Dudley, Massachusetts, where he has been a member of the faculty since 1995. He served as History program chair from 2014 until 2017. He specializes in American political history and leadership, but as a faculty member who teaches at a small institution he has taught in a variety of subject areas over the years including world history, modern Europe, the American Revolution, the American presidency, and a course on the history of Nichols College. In addition, he founded and serves as advisor to both the college's History Club and the Alpha-Mu-Eta chapter of the Phi Alpha Theta history honor society. In the past he served as vice president and president of the Central Massachusetts Council for the Social Studies. He has also participated as a judge in National History Day at the regional and state levels for nearly thirty years. He has been a member of NEHA since 1994.

Treasurer (1-year interim term)

Thomas J. Carty, Professor of History at Springfield College in Massachusetts, has served as NEHA's Book Review editor since 2006. He served as Local Arrangements Coordinator for the 2014 NEHA Spring Conference, and as Chair of the Social Sciences department at Springfield from 2012-2017. His 2004 book, Catholic in the White House? Religion, Politics, and John Kennedy's Presidential Campaign, was reissued in paperback in 2008. Professor Carty's second book, Backwards, in High Heels: Faith Whittlesey, Reagan's Madam Ambassador in Switzerland and the West Wing, published in 2011, examines the life and career of the highest ranking woman on President Reagan's White House staff during the period 1983-1984.

Secretary / Communications Chair

Ella Howard is Associate Professor of History at Wentworth Institute of Technology in Boston, MA where she teaches U.S. urban and digital history. She is the author of Homeless: Poverty and Place in Urban America, as well as an article in the Journal of Women's History and numerous essays in edited collections, including Reassessing the 1930s South, Oxford Encyclopedia of American Urban History, Cityscapes in History: Creating the Urban Experience, and Making Sense of American Liberalism. She is currently researching a book about the relationship between historic preservation and socioeconomic and racial segregation. She was elected to the NEHA Executive Committee (now Board of Directors) in 2017, after co-organizing a THATCamp sponsored by NEHA and Wentworth and has served as the NEHA Treasurer and most recently one term as Secretary / Communications Chair.

Board of Directors (2 Faculty Openings)

Libby Bischof is Professor of History and Executive Director of the Osher Map Library and Smith Center for Cartographic Education at the University of Southern Maine. A public and cultural historian, she teaches courses in 19th -century American history, photography and history, popular culture, and the history of Maine. She is the co-author of Maine Photography: A History, 1840-2015, which won the 2017 Historic New England book prize, and Maine Moderns: Art in Seguinland, 1900-1940 (Yale, 2011). She has also published chapters in various edited collections, and articles in The History Teacher, 19th Century, and The Maine Policy Review. She has been presenting at NEHA since she was a graduate student at Boston College in the early 2000s, and has previously served as Vice President and President of the organization.

George Dameron, Professor Emeritus of History at Saint Michael's College, is a medievalist who is the author of Episcopal Power and Florentine Society, 1000-1300 (Harvard, 1991), Church and Society in Dante's Florence (Penn, 2005), and several essays and articles on various aspects of medieval Italian history and culture. He is a past president of the New England Historical Association, and he has also in the past served on the Nominating Committee and Executive Committee (now Board of Directors). He is currently completing a study on the political economy of grain in Italian (Tuscan) cities before the Black Death.

Nominating Committee (1 opening)

Clifford Putney is the chair of the History Department at Bentley University, where he has received several teaching awards. He holds a bachelor's degree from Hampshire College, a master's degree from Harvard Divinity School, and a Ph.D. from Brandeis University, where he focused on U.S. religious history. As a specialist in that field, he has provided information to media outlets such as the History Channel and The Wall Street Journal, and he has published numerous journal articles, three book chapters, and four books (two of them edited). His best-known publications are Muscular Christianity: Manhood and Sports in Protestant America, 1880-1920 (Harvard University Press, 2001), and Missionaries in Hawai'i: The Lives of Peter and Fanny Gulick, 1797-1883 (University of Massachusetts Press, 2010). Cliff has been an active member of NEHA since 1999, and he served as the organization's Vice-President (2014), President (2015, NEHA's jubilee year), and newsletter editor (2011-2020). If elected to serve on NEHA's Nominating Committee, Cliff will work hard to recruit a diverse array of historians from throughout New England to serve as leaders of the Association.

NEHA Prizes

NEHA sponsors three annual prizes: a book award, and two student paper awards.

The James P. Hanlan Book Award is presented to an author based in New England who has produced an outstanding work of history published in the prior year. It is awarded each fall; books published in 2021 may be considered for the 2022 award.

Criteria: Monographs on any historical topic, time, or place published in 2021, written by an author who lives or works in New England (or who has done so in the past two years), are eligible for the annual NEHA James P. Hanlan Book Award. The nominated book should represent the best historical writing and scholarship in any era or field of history. An award certificate and stipend will be presented to the winner at the next Fall conference.

Any publisher may nominate one book each year by writing to Book Prize Chair, Marie McDaniel, Southern Connecticut State University by June 1, 2022. Other members of the committee include Kristen Petersen (MCPHS University), Ian Delahunty (Springfield College), Marie McDaniel (Southern Connecticut State University), and Kevin Levin (independent scholar).

The 2021 James P. Hanlan Book Award winner was Sylvia Sellers Garcia (Boston College), for The Woman on the Windowsill: A Tale of Mystery in Several Parts (Yale, 2020).

Student Paper Prizes. NEHA encourages the participation of students in its conferences and considers papers delivered at a NEHA conference for prizes for the top graduate student paper and top undergraduate student paper. Panel chairs may nominate papers from their sessions, or students may self-nominate.

Papers given during 2022 meetings will be eligible for the Spring 2023 award. Submit papers to Student Prize Committee Chair, Dominic DeBrincat (Missouri Western State University), ddebrincat@missouriwestern.edu.

NEHA Prize Papers for 2021

Graduate Paper Prize: Timothy Hastings (Keene State College), “Getting Away with Murder: Enslavement, Racialized Violence, and White Supremacy in Eighteenth-Century New Hampshire”

Undergraduate Paper Prize: Allen Horn (Eastern Connecticut State University) “Little Sorrel, Living Relic of the Lost Cause”

Opportunities for Authors

If you would like to write a book review for NEHA News, please contact our book review editor, Thomas J. Carty, Springfield College, Department of History, Springfield, MA 01109; tcarty@springfield.edu. We have books available for review or you may suggest a good new book you have in hand. Our reviews are 600 words and are due in 60 days.

The Historical Journal of Massachusetts (HJM) seeks articles about any aspect of Massachusetts history, culture, politics, and life. HJM is a peer-reviewed journal published twice a year since 1972. HJM is especially interested in articles on the history of recent immigrant communities. Subscriptions are $12.00 per year, and the acceptance rate is 35%. For submission guidelines see www.wsc.mass.edu/mhj/ or email masshistoryjournal@westfield.ma.edu.

The History Press (historypress.net) is looking for local historians and writers who are interested in publishing accessible histories of the towns and communities of New England. The History Press is a traditional, full-service press that focuses exclusively on publishing works of local and regional interest. They publish a wide range of books from brief histories of a town to collections of folklore and essays on the local culture. A typical author has strong ties to their community, and they strive to make their local history more accessible.

For more information, contact Edward Mack, commissioning editor, at Edward.Mack@historypress.net

The International Journal of Humanities and Social Science (IJHSS), an open access, peer-reviewed and refereed journal, seeks interdisciplinary articles in humanities and the social sciences. If you have questions about the journal, please contact its editor, J. Sabrina Mims-Cox (editor@ijhssnet.com).

The International Journal of Liberal Arts and Social Science (IJLASS), a newly established, open access, peer-reviewed journal, seeks all manner of contributions, including articles about history. Send your manuscripts to the editor at editor@ijlass.org, or editor.ijlass@hotmail.com.

The New England Journal of History (www.nejh.org) seeks articles and book reviews for upcoming issues; it is published twice yearly by the New England History Teachers Association, with submission deadlines January 15 and July 15. Please send submissions or inquiries to editor Linda Morse, editors@nejh.org.

The New England Quarterly editors invite submissions for their consideration. This historical review of New England life and letters has been published since 1928. NEQ is an open forum dedicated to the exploration and discussion of New England civilization and its effects on the nation and the world. The journal is open to any historical method, and there is no restriction on the time period covered. Features also include brief memoranda, recently discovered documents, reconsiderations of historical controversies, periodic essay reviews, and approximately fifteen book reviews per issue. Manuscripts should be sent to the editor, Jonathan Chu, at: jonathan.chu@umb.edu

The Northeast Popular Culture/American Culture Association (NEPCA) offers its annual Peter C.
